Vir: <https://ec.europa.eu/epale/en/resource-centre/content/model-training-librarians>

The image is a screenshot of a web browser displaying the EPALe (Electronic Platform for Adult Learning in Europe) website. The page title is "Model of training for librarians". The header includes the EPALe logo and navigation links. The main content area features a search bar and a list of themes, with "Professional development of staff" and "Literacy concepts and modes of delivery" selected. Below the themes, there is a section for the resource, including the title "Model of training for librarians", the author "Ajda Turk", the language "EN", and a detailed description of the training model. The description mentions the "LinkINjob" project and its focus on job-hunting with the help of librarians. A logo for "linkINjob" is also visible. The right sidebar contains a "News" section with several articles, including "Launch of public consultation on the review of the European Disability Strategy" and "More efforts for basic skills education and increased digitalisation of adult education".

Model/curriculum of training for librarians, which could be used for other libraries also, is one of the main results of project LinkINjob: job-hunting with the help of librarians. It is developed on need assessment in participating libraries in the period of project application form preparation, based on training concept and curriculum for training in Linz. It is result of common work and inputs from project team, participants of training and of five trainers.

Main aim of the training is to gain knowledge, skills, competences, ideas and experiences for preparing and organising better programs and services for unemployed and job seekers in (public) libraries.
